

Software / Digital IT Consultant – Brisbane CBD

Established in the 90's this company is an Australian owned, recruitment consulting firm operating within the Technology, Digital and Project business disciplines. They are always on the lookout for talent to join their business and be part of their highly recognised and rewarded team.

If you pride yourself on identifying and responding to changing market conditions, then you will be amongst likeminded professionals. They want a high performing IT Consultant to be part of their successful team. You will be working with an established and high yielding client portfolio, as well as developing further business under the guidance of an experienced manager. With a supportive team, ongoing development and a strong brand name this is your chance to work with some of the best in the industry and to take your career to the next level.

Experience within Digital and Software Development is highly desirable. You will have a passion for IT recruitment, great interpersonal skills and have an established network of client / industry contacts within the Brisbane marketplace.

The position will ideally suit ambitious and energised professionals who have an outstanding track record of sales and thrive on challenge and the over-achievement of business goals.

On offer is a generous salary, achievable and transparent commission structure with high earning potential.
